Council cuts number of homes to be considered

The Upland City Council has reduced the number of proposed residential units that may be forwarded for approval during the last quarter of the city's first year with a growth - management plan.

At its meeting March 6, the council unanimously approved a staff recommendation to drop the number of proposed houses, apartments and condominiums to 125 units for three months ending

City Manager Lee Travers said about 750 units have been approved so far under the growth management plan and that the additional 125 units would bring the total in line with the 900 units that may be forwarded to the Planning Commission for review during any 12 months

In the plan adopted last year, the council had set limits on Planning Commission review at 125 units per month, 500 units during any six months and 900 a year

Planning Director Bill Young this week called the adjustment an "interim measure" until city officials know the sewage allocation available for fiscal 1978-79 through

General plan hearing set

The Upland Planning Commission will hold its third public hearing on a general plan amendment covering the 1,234 - acre southeast quadrant 7:30 tonight at city hall, 460 N. Euclid Ave. The commission is also scheduled to consider the proposed amendment at its regular meeting 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 23.

the Chino Basin Municipal Water

Representatives of the district, West End cities and the Cucamonga County Water District on behalf of Rancho Cucamonga have been discussing future sewage allocations after the current agreement expires

Young noted Upland is likely to be under some limits for building for the next two years until expansion of Chino Basin's regional treatment plant in Ontario is complete.

A memorandum by Travers explained Upland's current sewage allocation is being exhausted more rapidly than anticipated because of lack of attrition in previously approved subdivisions.

Normally, a portion of tracts which are approved are never developed and expire," the memorandum states.

Although the number of residential units approved but not developed was expected to decline under growth management, city staff did not expect all approved tracts to be fully developed, according to Travers.

One of the goals outlined in Upland's growth - management plan is to encourage developers to submit projects that are well prepared and ready for development.

Young told the council applications for 200 - 250 units are currently being withheld from review because the projects would have exceeded growth management limits and did not qualify by the point - rating system used to determine priority for development.

City Engineer Fred Blanchard said representatives of the Chino Basin district and West End cities are reviewing 10 alternatives for allocation.

He noted that the alternative providing the most allocation would be the most costly to the district with expenditures reaching about $4 million for a year.

'It's a very complicated thing. We don't anticipate an answer for the next month or two," Blanchard

Councilman Hal Bailin said, "I think it's important to keep in mind that planning for the city of Upland ought to be done in the city of Upland and not at the Chino Basin Municipal board meeting and that their contact calls on them to fulfill our needs - not the other way

In other action, Mayor Pro Tem John McCarthy offered an amendment approved by the council to the ordinance expanding membership on the Architectural Commission.

The ordinance allows the City Council to determine the number of members at five to seven, rather than fixing the total. Five commissioners currently serve on the architectural review panel.

McCarthy noted the Architectural Commission had held only one night meeting so far and the council could not yet determine the affect on attendance by the switch from morning meetings.

Council members have previously expressed concern over decisions made with only three commissioners present.

Mayor George Gibson called McCarthy's amendment a "good solution." noting that residents with the expertise necessary to serve on the commission are hard to find.

The ordinance will be before the council Monday for final reading.

Make Today Count deals with cancer

Patient, family cope with serious illness

By Don Green

Although a "brush with death" brought the members together, a meeting of Make Today Count resembles a reunion of old friends more than it does a wake.

Gilberte George, organizer of the Ontario - Pomona chapter, called Make Today Count a "mutual support group" for cancer patients and others with life - threatening illnesses, as well as for their families and friends.

She said members "share experiences, strengths and hopes, and the dozen or so persons gathered at Ontario Community Hospital seemed to be living up to the philosophy of the organization's name

One by one, members and visitors recounted their bouts with cancer, punctuating their remarks with humor, good - natured digs and

They openly discussed what Mrs. George noted is still widely regarded as a "taboo subject. Sarah Fried of Pomona called the roup a "godsend" and a help to the morale.

What makes us tick is that we have hope. It's more than just a meeting," she said.

Mrs. Fried, who is 77 and underwent a double mastectomy about four years ago, said other members drive her to the meetings.

"Where else can I go and have somebody hug and kiss me?" she commented Mrs. Fried remains active, swimming three times a week and helping crippled children.

The Ontario - Pomona chapter is one of 132 local groups across the nation. A 47 - year - old former journalist named Orville Kelly founded Make Today Count in 1974.

Kelly, who has cancer of the lymph glands, was given six months to three years to live in 1973. How he overcame the initial shock and gloom is recounted in February's Reader's Digest.

Mrs. George said she read the original article and was inspired to start the local chapter, the only one serving San Bernardino County.

She said she had a mastectomy three years ago and recalled 'Everyone said, 'My, what a good girl you are,' but underneath I was seething.

Mrs. George, a Pomona resident, noted she found herself becoming increasingly "antisocial," whereas before the surgery she "used to be 'clubbed' to death.

"I wanted to talk to somebody about cancer; I wanted to talk about mastectomy. I found there was no one to talk to, unless they were underground.

Six women showed up at the local chapter's first meeting in September 1976. She said some of the women had never seen a prothesis before.

We passed it around the table that broke the ice," Mrs. George

Officials consider finances

San Bernardino County taxpavers are entitled to know what public services will have top priority if the Jarvis-Gann tax initiative passes June 6, county supervisors decided.

The supervisors denied they were trying to influence voters against Proposition 13, which would cut the county's income from property taxes by an estimated 60 percent. It would reduce homeowners' property tax bills by the same amount.

"I'm really getting a little tired of people saying that elected officials are trying to scare everybody I don't think that's our intent," Supervisor James L. Mayfield of Apple Valley said.

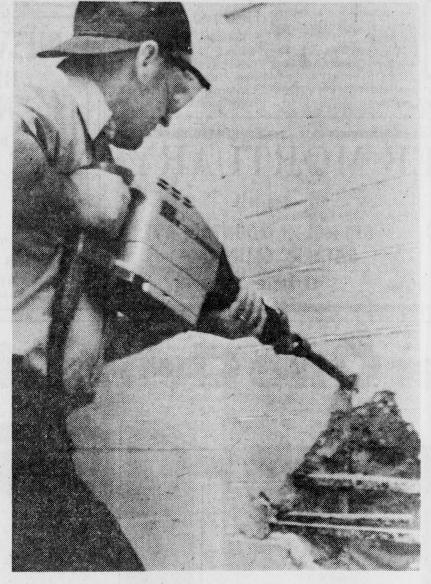

Mayfield said the county should start thinking how it would put a budget together if the $70 million it now collects in property taxes were cut drastically.

'Certainly we would want to see how many resources we could find to keep our key public services going - health care, law enforcement and public works," Mayfield said.

Despite passage of the property tax relief measure they endorsed, the supervisors still appeared about how county government will pay its bills in the coming year.

The measure passed the Legislature last week and was signed into law by Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. It will cut homeowners' property tax bills by 30 percent.

It will also require the state to pay the full share of health and welfare programs counties now support with homeowners' property taxes.

Supervisors to study day center for elderly

The county board of supervisors agreed Monday that the possibility of day care centers for senior citizens should be studied. But the supervisors didn't promise to set them up, fearing they may cost too

"I don't think we can afford it," said Supervisor James L. Mayfield, who opposed even the study. "I think we ought to put a moratorium on new programs until we make the present ones work a little bit better.

Chairman Robert O. Townsend of Chino disagreed. He said such centers might work "hand in hand" with senior citizens' nutrition programs throughout the county.

The supervisors approved the study as part of a $1.5 million spending plan for the county's Office on Aging during the coming year.

An estimated 100,000 residents of San Bernardino County - or one of every seven people - are 60 or older. Although not all of them use the social services offered by the Office on Aging or other county departments, many thousands of

The proposal for senior day care centers would be one step toward keeping senior citizens out of nursing homes and other institutions wherever appropriate, said Phil Nathanson, Office on Aging

'We want to keep people out of nursing homes who need not have gone there in the first place," he said. Nathanson said if the key problem day care centers cannot be solved without spending a lot of money, the centers might not be established. But he said the study would determine that.

"There is a definite need for this sort of thing," said David Strona of Chino, chairman of the county's Senior Affairs Commission. He supported the study.

Townsend said the supervisors should leave open the possibility of obtaining federal money for such

And he said the money being spent on other programs might be put to better use if county departments focused their efforts on coordinating the programs Mayfield said that although he couldn't disagree with the goals, he thought more money should be spent on existing programs such as senior citizen nutrition centers. Townsend said he felt Mayfield's goal could be accomplished if some money were diverted from the senior information and referral program. That program informs senior citizens of the social services available to them.

Townsend said the other program could receive help from federal manpower funds, thus freeing some money for nutrition centers.

Two other supervisors, Joseph Kamansky of Upland and Robert L. Hammock of San Bernardino, supported the study of senior day care centers. They said it would not commit the board of supervisors to establish them.

'I'd like to learn about it,"

Of the $1.5 million in spending the supervisors approved, about $500,000 will pay for nutrition centers, $300,000 for various job programs, $200,000 for senior information and referral, $200,000 for administration and planning, and $100,000 for seven new regional councils on aging.

The study of seniors' needs will cost about $20,000.

New office hours

An addition to the Ontario Branch Office staff effective March 13 will offer more service to constituents. Supervisor Joe Kamansky announced Monday.

The Board of Supervisors approved a contract with Mrs. Betty Gottwald to assist Ontario area residents in Kamansky's field

The hiring of Mrs. Gottwald for up to 25 hours per week will enable the office to stay open five days a week. 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Kamansky said Additional office hours are necessary in Ontario because of the many residents and local officials who need to meet with the Supervisor or his representative. Kamansky is available to meet with constituents each Thursday between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

To better serve Ontario area residents, a 17-space parking lot has been added to the west side of the building, where spaces have been set aside for handicapped individuals and constituents calling on the supervisor.

Chaffey College deficit blamed on declining student enrollment

Declining enrollment at Chaffey College was blamed for a $300,000 deficit in the salary budget after the board of trustees sharply questioned administrators last week about the

One step the board did take to reduce the deficit was to put 23 cerdificated personnel on notice that by two months. The people are all coordinators for various departments at the college. The board then asked the administration to return at the next board meeting in April with a report justifying why the changes should or should not take place.

Robert Totten, assistant dean of business services, told the board the salary budget shortage was caused when the money was used to start "hundreds" of non-graded classes. He said if those classes had not been started, the college would have lost $500,000 to $600,000 in revenue from the state.

'We were spending the $300,000 to offset the impact of that $500,000 to $600,000 loss we would have suffered if we had not started those extra classes. It's our graded class enrollment that has us in jeopardy right now," he told the board.

He said enrollment had dropped "drastically" in graded classes

To make up the deficit, Totten said cutbacks were being made in the capital outlay account. He estimated that so far $168,000 in projects can be deferred to a later date so the salary account can be Ralphs introduces another first to Southern California shoppers. "Plain Wrap" is a new no frills way to help you make ends meet. "Plain Wrap" products are not a replacement for national or private label brands. "Plain Wrap" offers you a third alternative and is an important new addition to Ralphs super selection.

*According to an independent price survey conducted by Vector Enterprises, Inc., a leading research firm and recognized authority on supermarket pricing, "Plain Wrap" is priced lower than any other merchandise surveyed in the Los Angeles area.

The Vector price survey, dated March 1, surveyed the 16 major chains in Los Angeles and compared the average national brand price and the average private label price with the "Plain Wrap" price of March 16. This price survey showed "Plain Wrap" to be 28.7% lower than national brands and 14.8% lower than private label brands. There will be some differences in private label brands. sizing, color, texture and composition between "Plain Wrap", private label brands and national brands. data available upon request from Vector Enterprises, Inc.

Local group presents Heller's war comedy

The Valley Community Theatre of Pomona is presently announcing the dramatization of Joseph Heller's comic masterpiece, "Catch-22" Friday and Saturday night.

Set in an Army airbase on a small island off the coast of Italy during World War II, "Catch-22" is the saga of Capt. Yossarian, a bombarier with a simple wish. He wants to live forever - or die trying. "Catch-22" runs Friday and Saturday nights through April 1. Reservations are recommended. For reservations and additional information call 622-6954. Curtain is 8:30 p.m. The Valley Community Theatre is located at 1540 Indian Hill Village Mall (near Sears), Pomona.

The cast of "Catch-22" presents a wide range of talents. The cast includes William R. Burk, Bill Himebaugh, Nick Hooyboer, Mike Rottman, Tricia Weshberg, Terry Weiss, Rex Crossley, Ron McCorkindale, W. Wayne Monks, William Naple, Dennis Parker, Debbie Mozley, and Linda Schmickling.

'Catch-22' is under the direction of Kevin W Whitaker, a long time resident of VCT.

Slide program

A slide presentation of Maranatha Flights International, at work in the heart of Mexico, will be presented at the Covina Seventh - day Adventist Church 6 p.m. Saturday. The church of which serves San Dimas and La Verne is at 1067 Badillo St. Mary Ann Coons, recently returned from southern Mexico, will present the program. With 31 members of Maranatha Flights International, she helped build a 200 - member Protestant church in San Cristobal de Las Casas, near the border of Guatemala. Mrs. Coons also served as the only translator for the mission.

Maranatha Flights International was organized in 1969 by professional photographer John D. Freeman as a voluntary Christian missionary peace corps. The lay persons fly their own planes, drive or go by commercial flights to specified places to build churches, schools, orphanages, medical or dental clinics. Members serve a minimum of two weeks, at their own expense with no remuneration but the satisfaction of service to humanity. Current projects include: a school at Big Bear; a school and clinic at Pine Ridge Indian Reservation in South Dakota; churches in Manaiz, Brazil; Cerrif, Scotland; Anchorage Alaska; and Mexico.

While this organization was begun by, and is composed mainly of, Adventists, members of other denominations are included in its membership. Those interested in Maranatha Flights or wishing to take part in this minisntry, may write to: John D. Freeman, Maranatha Flights International, Box A. Berrien Springs, Michigan, 49103.

Grace Brethren

"The Glory and Majesty of the Cruicifixion" will be the Palm Sunday message given by pastor-teacher, Gary Nolan 10:30 a.m. Sunday at the Grace Brethren of Alta Loma. The "Sound Investment" singers will bring the special music. Sunday School begins at 9:30 a.m. and offers clases for preschool, children, youth and adulsts, along with a nursery for all services. The church is temporarily meeting in the activity room at Alta Loma High School, and has purcahsed five acres of property on Beryl south of Hillside for its permanent location. The 6 p.m. service of celebration and instruction and the 7 p.m. Wednesday Bible study both meet at 8502 Banyan Ave. For information call (714) 898-3769.

Bell Memorial

Shepherd Lutheran

"Your King Comes" is the message to be delivered by Rev. Maynard Saeger 8 a.m. Sunday at Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church which meets in the blue room of the Foothill Community Church, 9944 Highland, Alta Loma. Congregation members will join Trinity Lutheran Church in Montclair for the 7:30 p.m. Maundy Thursday and Good Friday Serviuces. Saeger, who is pastor for Trinity Lutheran, is helping the mission congregation get its start. Anyone interested in helping a new mission church get started is invited to join each Sunday morning. For information, call (714) 626-6552 or (714)

Christ Lutheran

Christ the King Lutheran Church, 555 Gartel Drive, Walnut, announces its schedule of special services for Holy Week and Easter and invites all to join in the celebration, said the Rev. Jonathan Grothe. The congregation's Holy Week celebration will open with the presentation and examination of this year's junior confirmtion class on Palm Sunday, March 19. These young Christians have prepared to renew theiur baptismal covenant and to receive confirmatin of God's blessints. As part of the sermon they will give answers from Luther's Small Catechism - all based on the theme.

On Maundry Thursday, March 23, the Christian faithful will gather at 7:30 p.m. to celebrate communion, commemorating Jesus' institution of the sacrament. Following this service the altar will be stripped of its paraments. The congregation will gather to pray the traditional Holy Week Order of Tenebrae ("Shadows")... 7:30 p.m. Good Friday, March 24. The serice of Psalms, lessons and prayers is observed in increasing darkness. The congregation will hold a prayer vigil 6:30 p.m. Saturday, M arch 25 to 6:30 a.m. Easter Sunday. Anyone who wishes may come to join all disciples as they "watch and Materials giving guidelines for self - examination, meditation and spiritual renewal will be provided.

Finally, the waiting and watching will culminate in celebrations of the Easter season with Holy Communion at 6:30 and 10:30 a.m. Sunday, March 26. A light breakfast will be served after the sunrise service, and during the 9 a.m. Sunday school hour a special Easter film will be shown. Special events at the 10:30 service will include the bestowal of the confirmation blessing upon the junior confirmation class, an Easter anthem by the children's choir, and a special arangement of "At the Lamb's High Feast We Sing" for choirs and congrega-

Palm Sunday parade

For the second year a Palm Sunday parade will be held at Northminster Presbyterian Church, 400 S. Rancheria, Diamond Bar. The parade reenacts Jesus' triumphal entry into Jerusalem. The congregation, along with Sunday School children, will meet in the sanctuary at 10:30 for opening worship, and then process out of the church, down the street, through the shopping area and back to the church again for a closing celebration and dedication. Palms, banners and songs will accompany the celebrative event. And a church youth, representing Jesus, will lead the procession riding on a colt. Elder Ann Ownbey is coordinating the entire event.

The regular traditional service will be held at the 9 a.m. worship hour. Dr. Richard Engdahl will preach on the topic: "Through Thick and Thin." One Great Hour of Sharing gifts will be dedicated and new members recognized and received.

Alleluia! musical

"Alleluia!," a contemporary musical by Bill and Gloria Gaither, will be presented 6:30 p.m. Palm Sunday, March 19 at the San Dimas United Methodist Church, 114 W. Second St., San Dimas. Chancel Choir director Emily Anderson, assisted by her husband Dave, has arranged for accompaniment by stereo 8-track tapes of a symphony orchestra. Soloists include: Lon Toppenberg; Dave Anderson; Mary Ellen Gridley; Glenn Welch; Sue Drake; Karen Schmidt; Roger Nelson; and Jim Shuler.

Women of the Chancel Choir will pastel long dresses; with tuxedoes for the men provided by Matt's Men's Wear, 187 N. San Dimas Canyon Road, San Dimas. Following the musical, the junior and cherub choirs will entertain on the newly built stage in the Fellowship Hall. Highlight for the children will be religious gifts and sweets. Mrs. Don Toppenberg, refreshment chairperson, has planned a festive table of homemade treats to follow the children's presentation. The Easter Sunday worship service 10:30 a.m. Sunday, March 26 will open with the processional by the Chancel Choir. Ed Wolfe head band instructor of San Dimas High School and Scott Priester, will play trumpets for the accompanying descant. The cohir will present the finale from "Alleluia!" for their

La Verne Brethren

Church school classes at the La Verne Church of the Brethren will view the film "Why Man Creates" 9:30 a.m. Sunday. Steve Gregory, campus minister at the University of La Verne, will speak at the 10:30 a.m. worship service. "Alleluia Under Advisement" is the topic of his sermon. Gregory is a La Verne College graduate and has a degree from Bethany Theological Seminary in Illinois. Prior to his coming to the University of La Verne he was pastor of the Ladera Church of the Thirty-six persons from the La Verne Church of the Brethren will spend March 18-22 in Tecate, Mexico where they are participating in a work project at La Casa de la Nina Salvatierra, a girls' orphanage, operated by Catholic madres and under the direction of a board headed by Juan Gonzalez, a Tijuana businessman. The La Verne Church of the Brethren has developed an association with the orphanage. During Easter vacation last year, the youth group and its advisers traveled to Tecate and conducted a work project at the orphanage.

In September the girls, accompanied by the Gonzales family, came to La VErne, staying in church members' homes, visiting the Los Angeles County Fair and presenting a program at the church. Several months later members of the churchj visited the orphanage. At Christmas time the congregation donated funds to purchase clothing for the girls.

Twenty - two members of the youth group and 14 additional persons, including youth advisers, food preparesrs, college students and minister Leland Wilson will make the Easte vacation trip. Painting, electrical repair work and cement work is expected to be the tasks the youth will be executing as part of the work project. Church members contribute canned items of food that the group takes along to feed its members and the orphanage community.

Private business best help for unemployed

By Richard L. Lesher Early in January, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) adopted a report on energy policy which I greeted with both surprise and unrestrained

In a nutshell, this report recognizes three facts: Black Americans are suffering a disproportionately high rate of unemployprivate sector.

National energy policies that emphasize conservation over production will discourage growth. The report therefore puts the NAACP in favor of a private - sector solution to the unemployment problem and in opposition to no growth economic policies, including the administration's energy plan.

This recognition of the - New jobs come from vital link between black un-economic growth in the employment and economic growth is not in itself a new development. In fact, black economists have been moving to such a position in growing numbers.

But their views have not yet had time to be digested by the ordinary person. Consequently, the NAACP's new stance strikes many observers as a startling departure from past practice. And for the organization, it is.

The guidelines are contained in AB 1752 by Assemblyman Herschel Rosenthal (D-Los Angeles), which was recently sent to the Senate One test subject said the from the Assembly floor.

Last year the legislature approved a similar bill. AB 1592 by Assemblyman Richard Alatorre (D-Los Angeles), establishing informed consent guidelines for state prisoners used in biomedical research. Historical precedents ex- blighted system of governist for regulation of medical experimentation on human beings. The Nuremberg Code of Ethics was written after the Nazi experiments on prisoners in World War II. Later the Declaration of Helsinki listed recommendations for doctors who use human test subjects.

AB 1752 would write into state law the informed consent provisions of these international codes. The bill recognizes that "medical experimentation on human subjects is vital for the benefit" of humanity.

It would not infringe upon health researchers' need to test new drugs and procedures or Californians' right to participate in experiments. It is designed only to prevent unscrupulous medical investigators from victimizing test subjects.

developed a tradition of close association with the federal government because the government was able to move forcefully in destroying the remnants of racial discrimination. And who could blame them? The private sector, by itself, was not equally effective in this area.

But old alliances do not necessarily meet the needs of new times. The need now is for real jobs and career opportunities. And when it comes to job creation, the record of the private sector is far superior to that of the government.

Nine out of 10 new jobs created during 1977 were created by American business ane 646,000 of these jobs were filled by black people. The NAACP would actually be failing its people if it did not change its outlook accordingly.

However, such dramatic changes are rare in large organizations. Forceful, courageous leadership is required to overcome organizational inertia and to withstand the inevitable political That backlash is develop-enterprisers will win because they are right. But they could experience some temporary setbacks. I hope that doesn't happen. A' lôt of people will be spared a lot of misery if the momentum of this breakthrough can be sustained.

The NAACP's new thinking is evidently the product of a small band of its directors who have had high level business experience, not the least of them being the organization's redoubtable head Margaret Bush Wilson, who is also a director of the Monsanto Co.

The group's business connections have led to charges that they are biased toward the oil industry. It is the same kind of complaint that gives us government regulators who don't know the first thing about what they are supposed to be regulating.

These NAACP leaders need and deserve support from the entire business community, especially from black entrepreneurs who know where jobs come from and how to get more of occasionally has a lurking suspicion that he or she is offending others because of bad breath (halitosis). For vears advertisers have taken advantage of this with a barrage of advertising for mouth washes, breath sweeteners toothpastes.

Bad breath actually is a common problem, but it cannot really be dealt with on anything but a temporary basis until the underlying cause has been identified - and that may not be easy to do.

Basic facts about bad breath include the following

'Breath awareness'

by commercial interests. Many persons who suspect that their breaths "offend" have perfectly normal breath odors.

There commercial product, no matter now aggressively and dramatically promoted, that will cure bad breath. The most you can expect from a mouth wash is that it will make you feel more fastidious for a short period of time and that it may mask temporarily your unpleasant breath.

Some types of bad breath are self - limiting. If the odor is caused by alcohol, tobacco, garlic or onion, for example, it will disappear in time.

- A dry mouth and throat are likely to be foul smelling. The normal flow of saliva bathes and lubricates the inside of the mouth Without this flow a stagnant condition develops which results in bad breath.

There are some counter measures for this condition. For example, do not breath through your mouth; do what you can to combat feelings of tension, which tend to stop the flow of saliva; drink plenty of fluids; chew on a stick of gum or suck a piece of hard candy to stimulate the flow generate foul odors. Even with daily brushing, you may not be able to get at pockets of infection around the roots of your teeth. These call for treatment by your dentist who can also determine whether there are any other disease conditions in your teeth or gums which might contribute to bad breath.

Your problem possibly might have its origin in a low - grade infection. The air flowing through the nose or back of the throat might pick up odors form a sinus infection. Similarly, infected tonsils will create bad - breath problems.

A number of other physical problems might contribute to bad breath. Remember that your blood breath are simply dealt lungs, leaving evidence of chemical many

> The search for the cause of bad breath may be a prolonged one, but what you are looking for is more than just the source of some social discomfort. You are seeking something that may require medical or dental treatment. Don't delay that search because you have been lulled into expecting that a new, more potent, more flavorful mouth wash will solve your problem.

Over the years, dog breeders have established breeding programs to strengthen certain desired physical characteristics in succeeding generations. Some breed
